DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Skrzypchak et al.

The patent by Skrzypchak et al. (6,604,494) shows a drive arrangement for a motor vehicle. An engine (101) and a power electronic unit (100) for controlling an electric machine are shown. The power electronic unit (100) is supported on a carrier (140). The carrier, which is mounted to an engine housing, is in the form of a cooler, having coolant inlets (136) and outlets (138) and being mounted on the engine such that the coolant inlets and outlets are in communication with coolant passages of a cooling circuit of the internal combustion engine.

The carrier (140) is arranged in a positively engaging fashion on an engine housing, in particular the engine block (101).

A seal (146) is provided between the carrier and the engine block.

The carrier (140) of the power electronic unit includes a cooler having coolant inlets and outlets leading to the cooler and being arranged so as to fit coolant passages of a particular internal combustion engine. It is the view of the examiner that it is inherent that there is some type of adapter connecting the line (134) sealingly with the coolant circuit.

The power electronic unit controls an electric machine (110), which can be operated selectively as a starter and a generator.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
